We understand you may have questions about traveling with ARCALYST[®] (rilonacept). Here are tips for maintaining the correct storage temperature and navigating any rules about flying with your medication.

Storage options

To make sure your medication is properly stored, it should be kept in a container that can maintain the correct temperature of 2°C to 8°C (36°F to 46°F) for the duration of your travels.

- ✓ Always transport your medication in an insulated bag or container, such as a mini cooler or portable medication cooler.
- ✓ For prolonged travel, consider packing an extra vial of ARCALYST with appropriate injection supplies in case of any issues with an injection.
- ✓ Keep any ice bricks or cool gels that have been included in your medication shipments and refreeze them for use when traveling.
- ✓ After arriving at your destination, make sure to refrigerate your medication properly as soon as possible.

Tips for flying with ARCALYST

It's important to understand any rules and limitations when flying with medication to avoid scenarios in which you are unable to have your medication on hand.

- ✓ Avoid packing your medication in checked luggage to prevent it from being lost or damaged. Confirm with the airline before flying that you are allowed to bring your medication with you as a carry-on item.
- ✓ Inform TSA agents that you are traveling with medication, and make sure your medication and any accessories are properly labeled. If possible, get a medical note from your healthcare provider for traveling purposes.
